Fiscal Year 2009-2010

July 1, 2009 – June 30, 2010

NC Association of Regional Councils of Government

Authorization: pursuant to S.L.2008-107

Due Date: September 1, 2010

Submission Date: August 25, 2010

Receiving Entities: NC DOC and NER

Submitting Entities: The NC Association of Regional Councils of Government (17 Councils)

Year End Report

July 1, 2009 - June 30, 2010

North Carolina's seventeen (17) Regional Councils of Government provide comprehensive services to the State and to local governments, benefiting North Carolina and its citizens by:

1. Helping local governments confront economic and environmental issues
2. Providing effective regional action on issues bigger than any single government can address on its own
3. Planning and coordinating state and federal programs, projects and grants
4. Securing funds for sound economic and community development
5. Promoting intergovernmental cooperation on a regional basis, among local governments and between state, federal and local governments
6. Assisting local governments in meeting state and federal regulations
7. Delivering federal and state services to local governments

North Carolina's Regional Councils provide the technical assistance and leadership needed to implement projects in the state's distressed communities. This unwavering commitment by Regional Councils helps to improve local conditions, build momentum and restore hope in these distressed communities. Many Tier 1 counties lack the manpower to pursue funding and organize allies to develop and implement strategic plans. The expertise and willingness of the Regional Councils to step in and provide these services is crucial to the rebuilding of these communities.

The North Carolina Regional Councils of Government receive a very small amount of state funding. The amount was once again reduced to less than $25,000 for the 2009 budget year.

It is critical that the North Carolina General Assembly understand that the Regional Councils serve as the "front lines" across the state in assisting local governments with regional solutions and administering federal and state programs. Although the Regions handle large amounts of federal funds in the "pass through" capacity, these funds CANNOT be used to provide assistance to local governments. The Regional Councils must depend on the state funds for the technical assistance services that are so crucial, particularly in distressed counties.

Local governments, both town and county, lose capacity as tax dollars continue to shrink from the state economy. North Carolina would be in even worse economic stress without the Regional Council's staff expertise and unwavering commitment to serving these local units of government.

The councils are the "glue" that holds regions together, gives them a helping hand and champions their citizens' needs. In addition, they assist in bringing diverse community sectors together to find solutions to serious problems facing North Carolina. They are the "bridge builders" for effective state government.

The compilation of this report represents literally millions of dollars that have been secured for communities across North Carolina either from federal, state, foundation or private funds. Please read the details in this report to capture the true value of elected officials and community leaders working together, across county lines, for a better state. The details are astounding!

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES	ACTIVITIES	ACCOMPLISHMENTS
ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT
WPCOG staff disseminates information about the federal Small Business Administration loan program for the Hickory Metro region. Staff serves as business consultant and advisor to small businesses and entrepreneurs seeking federal SBA funding.	Staff meets with interested small businesses, local entrepreneurs, bankers and others to explain the purpose, function and uses of the SBA loan programs. WPCOG staff also executes the work plan of the Region E Development Corporation.	During FY 2009-2010, financing efforts for Small Business development secured $1,305,266 . Two projects received $530,000 from SBA 504 funding. These funds leveraged $775,266 in funding from private equity and banks.
WPCOG continued to provide staff assistance to the 12-county Future Forward Economic Alliance (FFEA). The North Carolina Center for Engineering Technologies (NCCET) provides workforce development efforts throughout the Future Forward region with specialized technical training and degree programs in engineering technologies, applied science and technologies, and management education. The NCCET is designed to provide product development, business process improvement and manufacturing competitiveness assistance; serve as a manufacturing/industrial incubator; impart intellectual property transfer knowledge; and support regional economic development activities.	The NC Center for Engineering Technologies complements other higher education initiatives in the region including existing technical programs provided through community colleges and other university-related centers in the region. The redesigned building, funded through public and private sector funding, includes 25,000 square feet of renovated space for three Engineering Technology classrooms, six labs, a conference room, a distance learning classroom and 12 offices. Staff served as oversight management for the rehabilitation of this former facility of a local high tech manufacturer.	NCCET offered five courses spring semester, four courses in Summer school and five courses fall semester to more than 70 students by ASU and WCU. Degrees are currently being offered in Building Sciences by ASU and Engineering Technology by WCU. Six of seven lab classrooms are operational.

WPCOG serves as staff to the Unifour HOME Consortium and its lead entity, the City of Lenoir in Caldwell County.	The Unifour HOME Consortium is a cooperative effort of twenty-eight (28) local governments to improve the affordable housing opportunities for low-income and very low-income persons or families within the Alexander, Burke, Caldwell and Catawba County (Unifour) area. Funds from this program are used to implement a region-wide, first-time homebuyer's assistance program.	Since the program's inception in 1995 through June 30, 2010, 2,034 families have become "first-time homeowners" as a result of this program. In the FY 2009-2010, COG staff assisted 151 families in purchasing their first home.
The Western Piedmont Workforce Development Board (WPWDB) provides financial support for the Career Readiness Certification (CRC) as an effective tool to help potential business access the right employees, decrease turnover and improve hiring decisions.	Workplace skills verification through the Career Readiness Certification program is based on WorkKeys, a nationally-recognized skills assessment tool for establishing workplace skill levels in reading, applied math and locating information.	WPWDB has made available $15,000 additional dollars to the three local community colleges to allow more citizens the opportunity to receive CRC and thus enhance the official verification of their workplace skills.
